```
import csv
import sqlite3

class DatabaseConnector:
    """
    Manages a connection to a sqlite database.
    """

    def __init__(self, database_file):
        # Establishes a connection to the database and creates a cursor.
        self.connection = sqlite3.connect(database_file) self.cursor = self.connection.cursor() def populate(self, spreadsheet_folder):

        """
        Populate the database with data imported from each spreadsheet.
        """
        # Open the spreadsheets
        with open(f"{spreadsheet_folder}/shipping_data_0.csv", "r") as spreadsheet_file_0:
            with open(f"{spreadsheet_folder}/shipping_data_1.csv", "r") as spreadsheet_file_1:
                with open(f"{spreadsheet_folder}/shipping_data_2.csv", "r") as spreadsheet_file_2:
                    # Prepare the csv readers
                    csv_reader_0 = csv.reader(spreadsheet_file_0)
                    csv_reader_1 = csv.reader(spreadsheet_file_1)
                    csv_reader_2 = csv.reader(spreadsheet_file_2)

                    # Populate first spreadsheet
                    self.populate_first_shipping_data(csv_reader_0) self.populate_second_shipping_data(csv_reader_1, csv_reader_2) def populate_first_shipping_data(self, csv_reader_0):

        """
        Populate the database with data imported from the first spreadsheet.
        """
        for row_index, row in enumerate(csv_reader_0):
            # Ignore the header row
            if row_index > 0:
                # Extract each required field
                product_name = row[2]
                product_quantity = row[4]
                origin = row[0]
                destination = row[1]

                # Insert the data into the database
                self.insert_product_if_it_does_not_already_exist(product_name) self.insert_shipment(product_name, product_quantity, origin, destination)

                # Give an indication of progress
            print(f"Inserted product {row_index} from shipping_data_0") def populate_second_shipping_data(self, csv_reader_1, csv_reader_2):

        """
        Populate the database with data imported from the second and third spreadsheets.
        """
        # Collect shipment info
        shipment_info = {}
        for row_index, row in enumerate(csv_reader_2):
            # Ignore the header row
            if row_index > 0:
                # Extract each required field
                shipment_identifier = row[0]
                origin = row[1]
                destination = row[2]

                # Store them for later use shipment_info[shipment_identifier] = {
                    "origin": origin,
                    "destination": destination,
                    "products": {}
                }

        # Read in product information
        for row_index, row in enumerate(csv_reader_1):
            # Ignore the header row
            if row_index > 0:
                # Extract each required field
                shipment_identifier = row[0]
                product_name = row[1]

                # Populate intermediary data structure
                products = shipment_info[shipment_identifier]["products"] if products.get(product_name) is None:
                    products[product_name] = 1
                else:
                    products[product_name] += 1

        # Insert the data into the database
        count = 0
        for shipment_identifier, shipment in shipment_info.items():
            # Collect origin and destination
            origin = shipment["origin"] destination = shipment["destination"] for product_name, product_quantity in shipment["products"].items():

                # Iterate through products and insert into the database
                self.insert_product_if_it_does_not_already_exist(product_name)
            self.insert_shipment(product_name, product_quantity, origin, destination)

            # Give an indication of progress
            print(f"Inserted product {count} from shipping_data_1")
            count += 1

    def insert_product_if_it_does_not_already_exist(self, product_name):
        """
        Insert a new product into the database.
        If a product already exists in the database with the given name, ignore it.
        """
        query = """
        INSERT OR IGNORE INTO product (name)
        VALUES (?);
        """
        self.cursor.execute(query, (product_name,))
        self.connection.commit()

    def insert_shipment(self, product_name, product_quantity, origin, destination):
        """
        Insert a new shipment into the database.
        """
        # Collect the product id
        query = """
        SELECT id
        FROM product
        WHERE name = ?;
        """
        self.cursor.execute(query, (product_name,)) product_id = self.cursor.fetchone()[0]

        # Insert the shipment
        query = """
        INSERT OR IGNORE INTO shipment (product_id, quantity, origin, destination) VALUES (?, ?, ?, ?);
        """
        self.cursor.execute(query, (product_id, product_quantity, origin, destination))
        self.connection.commit()

    def close(self):
        # Closes the database connection
        self.connection.close()

if __name__ == '__main__':
    # Create an instance of DatabaseConnector, populate the database, and close the connection database_connector = DatabaseConnector("shipment_database.db") database_connector.populate("./data") database_connector.close()
```